"Hand harvested, packed at source and from our farms with Love"

Our Story

We, the Rajiyahs love this little Island of Sri Lanka and we love our coconuts even more! For generations we have lovingly tendered to our coconut farms, producing some of the finest coconuts there is. Though times have changed, we have not, our love for coconuts still remains the same and we bring to you the finest organic certified coconut products there is, hand harvested, packed at source and from our farms with all the love.

Yet, we couldn't have done this alone, our business philosophy has always revolved around sustainability and accountability – towards our extended family of over 700 employees, numerous farmer families, suppliers and clientele from around the world. Today we are an organization catering towards the modern age, yet not forgetting the principles which we are built upon and the cultures and traditions which are an integral part of Sri Lanka; thus bringing you an exciting range of organic coconut products made from the freshest, purest and hand harvested coconuts with love.

Our Organic Farms and Factories

Our farms are in the heart of the famed coconut triangle, a lush and rustic environment where a simple way of life still prevails, pollution is minimal and organic farming has been a way of life for generations. This lifestyle still continues and we ensure that it stays uninterrupted. Though our production facilities are some of the most modern in the country, our organic cultivation involves traditional farming methods -utilizing optimal natural inputs including cow dung, compost heaps, rice straw etc., allowing for amiable and successful cultivation.

The growing demand for our loved coconuts from the world requires us to source our requirements through both our own plantations and also through certified organic farming networks, where the necessary knowledge and training is farmer families with the objective of helping them gain knowledge needed to develop sustainable agriculture and diversified income sources through organic farming. Our state of the art factories pay every detail to producing the finest quality coconut products while our food technologist constantly innovate new additions to our range.

Our Organic processing Facilities

Our manufacturing facilities have been awarded HACCP/ISO22000 and BRC. These state-of-the-art factories located within a radius of 30km's from Colombo, offer a variety of processing options such as UHT, Spray drying, Canning & Dehydration.

The in-house laboratories are equipped with complete microbiological and physical testing facilities and our expert staff carefully test each batch of product. Moreover, our professional Quality Assurance Team uses approved testing methods and document the manufacturing process from incoming raw materials to finished products to ensure all quality aspects are met.

COCOMI

Coconut Water

Cocomi Bio Organic Coconut Water is an all-natural juice made from the water of freshly plucked coconuts. Our coconuts are hand harvested and processed within few hours of opening using UHT technology. This process gives our drink a refreshing straight-from-the-coconut taste whilst helping to retain the natural goodness inherent in coconut water, just as Mother Nature intended.

Drinking Coconut Milk

Cocomi Bio coconut milk drink is pure and natural, made by using the fresh white coconut kernel resulting in a silky, smooth creamy beverage. If you are vegan, lactose intolerant or just don't enjoy the taste of dairy milk and Soy milk, our coconut milk is a viable plant-based alternative that contains no lactose and has pleasant, creamy texture. Consumption of "good fats" is certainly an important part of a balanced diet. The fat in Coconut milk contains approximately 60% medium chain fatty acids (M. C.F.A.s), which are more easily burned by your body as energy. The perfect balance for a healthy lifestyle, our Coconut Milk drink is ideal just as it is, or perfect for your morning cereals, tea, coffee, smoothies, health shakes or just as it is!"

Our love for nature

Our philosophy in preserving and sustaining our surroundings is an utmost priority, Mother Nature is the core of our organic products and it's our turn to take care of her in whatever ways possible. It's well understood that in today's world we are destroying more than what we can build, deforestation and pollution is taking a toll on the delicate bio diversity surrounding us, the life which supports us. Though we are caught in this vicious cycle we ensure that we are not part of this unwanted destruction.

Our plantations are equipped with some of the irrigation methods Sri Lankans Kings used in ancient times; which is a construction of soil dams across streams at different elevations with overflows, thus a large capacity of rainwater is harvested in water reservoirs. Rainwater collected in reservoirs at different elevation along the stream leads to uplift the ground water table which in turn has benefited coconut production. The ponds are used effectively as ideal water sources for irrigation during dry season and also serve as watering holes to different small animals which live in the plantations.

Our factories require a vast amount of steam for production, furnace oil is the easiest but polluting option, yet nature always had the answer and we listened. Our plantations generate tonnes of coconut shells and we put to use this natural energy source by installing coconut shell boilers which now generates the total steam required to operate the entire plant. Furthermore all waste water is channeled back to watering the plants surrounding the factory premises
